Many of our patients require tooth replacement as a result of periodontal disease. Often these patients, as a result of their periodontal condition, are compromised due to lack of bone. This presentation will consider and investigate how to treat these challenging patients.

Topics covered will include:

- The periodontally compromised dentition in the aesthetic area:
  - Potential and limit of periodontal therapy.
  - When and how to preserve/augment the alveolar ridge.
  - Immediate post extraction implant: still an option?
- The periodontally compromised dentition:
  - Transcrestal sinus lift in the atrophic maxilla.

About the Presenter:

Professor Trombelli is Dean of the School of Dentistry and Chair of Periodontology at the University of Ferrara in Italy. He is also the Director of the Research Centre for the Study of Periodontal and Peri-implant Diseases at the University of Ferrara. He was past President of the Italian Society of Osseointegration (2007-2009). Professor Trombelli is an active member of the Italian Society of Periodontology, Italian Society of Osseointegration and International Association for Dental Research. He contributes to the editorial process of the following scientific journals: Journal of Clinical Periodontology as Member of the Editorial Board and Journal of Periodontology as Member of the Peer Review Panel. He also maintains a private practice limited to Periodontology and Implantology in Ferrara, Italy.
