There is no doubt that today, we are becoming more aware of upper airway obstruction, sleep disordered breathing and its implications on the overall health and quality of life of the 'sleep' patient. There however seems to be much confusion and underestimation about the complexity and the multidisciplinary approach needed to manage these patients. Dentists today want and need to know more about dental sleep medicine. This evening is designed to familiarise and enlighten the dentist to better recognising the 'sleep' patient, to better understand his/her role in the overall management of the 'sleep' patient and what they can do to benefit their patients' clinical practice. Various controversial topics and considerations in sleep disordered breathing as it relates to the everyday practice of dentistry will be covered.

About the Presenters:

Dr Sanjivan Kandasamy is Clinical Associate Professor at the Department of Orthodontics, Dental School, UWA and is an Adjunct Assistant Professor at Saint Louis University. He completed his dental degree at UWA and his orthodontic training at the University of Melbourne, followed by a postdoctoral fellowship at Saint Louis University. He is certified with the Australian Orthodontic Board. Sanj has published numerous articles in the peer reviewed literature as well as three textbook chapters. He recently published in August 2015, the first ever textbook on TMD and Orthodontics. He is currently a reviewer for the American Journal of Orthodontics and Orthopedics, The Angle Orthodontist, Orthodontics - The Art and Practice of Dentofacial Enhancement and is the Associate Editor of the Australian Orthodontic Journal. He is on the Editorial Board of Seminars in Orthodontics. He also maintains a specialist private practice in Midland, Western Australia.

Dr Ramesh Balasubramaniam graduated with a BDSc from the University of Western Australia in 2000 and subsequently practiced general dentistry. In 2006, he completed a Certificate and Master of Science degree in Orofacial Pain at the University of Kentucky. While at the University of Kentucky, Ramesh also underwent training in the field of Dental Sleep Medicine. He is a Diplomate of the American Board of Orofacial Pain. In addition, Ramesh completed specialist training in Oral Medicine as well as a Fellowship in Interdisciplinary Geriatrics at the University of Pennsylvania in 2008. He has numerous peer reviewed publications, has contributed to several chapters in various texts and co-edited the May 2008 Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Clinics of North America on Orofacial Pain and Dysfunction. Ramesh is also co-editor and co-author of a new authoritative comprehensive textbook entitled "Contemporary Oral Medicine" to be published by Springer in 2018. In addition, he serves as a reviewer for a number of peer-reviewed journals. Ramesh has an appointment as a Clinical Associate Professor at the School of Dentistry of the University of Western Australia and is actively involved in teaching and research. He is president-elect of the Oral Medicine Academy of Australasia. He also has public appointments at the Oral Health Centre of Western Australia and Princess Margaret Hospital for Children.
